

Wellers Hill State School offers two high yield Learning Pathways

Australian Curriculum Japanese: ACJ

Students learn part of the Australian Curriculum in English and part in Japanese. They have two class teachers, one teacher of English and one teacher of Japanese. They have two classrooms, swapping teachers after first break.

Australian Curriculum English: ACE

Students learn the entire Australian Curriculum in English. They work from one classroom.

Myths Busted

Do the ACJ students learn a different curriculum? No, all students are taught through the Australian Curriculum.

Is the ACE Pathway only for students with learning difficulties? No. Both Pathways offer high yield learning opportunities.

Do ACE and ACJ students play and eat together? Yes.

Is it expected for all students to complete the ACJ Pathway? No.

Is the ACJ Pathway suited for everyone? No.

Questions to think about when choosing a pathway for your child

Where will Japanese take my child beyond Wellers?

Does my child need English consolidation to enhance learning outcomes?

Is my child already bilingual in Japanese and requires English consolidation?

Can my child independently organise themselves and belongs to transfer between classes?

Does my child suffer from anxiety when routines are changed?

Is my child independent and resilient?

Is my child easily distracted?
